Security at the Speed of Innovation

About CFF

Cyber Future Foundation was established to create a brighter and trusted future for cyberspace where digital commerce and innovation can thrive based on trust and respect to individual privacy.

The impetus for the creation of CFF was born from the flurry of cyber incidents that has left a trail of compromised public, private, and corporate security parameters across the globe. With a majority of organizations and individuals accepting the fact that they have had a data breach, global leaders from different spheres of society, such as those of us associated with CFF, saw an urgent need to provide a collective action focused on addressing the challenges of cyberspace in the form of a leadership platform.

The urgency is now, the need is now, and the global requirement for privacy, respect, and trust in cyberspace has never been greater. CFF is a movement toward a brighter future for cyberspace, and all we do in it!

About National Cybersecurity Council (NCC)

The National Cybersecurity Center (NCC), established in 2016, is a champion in the realm of cyber innovation and awareness. Born from the foresight of then Colorado Governor and now US Senator John Hickenlooper, in partnership with academic minds from the University of Colorado Colorado Springs (UCCS) and local community leaders, the NCC has grown into a pivotal resource for both public and private sectors. As a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, our core mission is to foster cybersecurity resilience and knowledge across society.

This mission is underpinned by our commitment to leadership, collaboration, and education, which we have pursued through initiatives like the Secure the Vote program, Cyber for State Government Program, and the NCC Student Alliance, aimed at equipping the next generation of cybersecurity experts and ensuring the integrity of democratic processes. In response to evolving cybersecurity needs, the NCC has expanded its focus beyond initial reactive measures to embrace a proactive, think tank-like approach towards solving complex cyber challenges. This effort is rooted in our belief that cybersecurity is a collective responsibility, requiring the engagement of all sectors of society to safeguard national and global security.
